

artnet galleries

Digital Gallery Hopping

Goya Contemporary Gallery

Trace Miller: Pulp Fiction

The genre of landscape is reimagined by Trace Miller in his latest exhibition at Goya Contemporary Gallery in Baltimore. Painting burgeoning forests on pulp paper, Miller carves trees and figures on to the textured material, layering thick oil paint to build up dynamic landscapes. Don't miss the chance to see these mesmerizing paintings before the show ends on July 29.